

Greg and Lynne came into our home and immediately felt like long-time friends. They greeted the dogs and put them at ease- just like dog-people do! We spent a lovely day with them before leaving on an extended stay, and we felt very confident about leaving as they made sure to find out everything needed about the dogs and the house. They checked in while we were gone, and it wasn't long before we didn't even think about home as we enjoyed our vacation. Everything was neat and clean when we got home, and the dogs had obviously bonded with our guests. We took the dogs up to our bedroom upon our late night arrival, and our little one got up and went back to their room! We love it when people take good care of our home, but we are delighted when our dogs are happy! We hope Greg and Lynne will come for another housesit in the future. We'd recommend them.
